Subject: transgender healthcare coverage

Dear GIB, ETF, DOJ, and any other acronyms I may have missed,

I've been thinking lately about how to make America great again. I admire Melania Trump's antibullying campaign, and I feel that the state of Wisconsin should do its part to end bullying and discrimination. I am disappointed that factions within my state government want to disregard federal law and continue discrimination against transgender persons seeking healthcare. I sure am glad I noticed the DOJ's last minute attempt to force state employees to accept discrimination in their healthcare plans. I wish I could attend this afternoon's last-minute meeting, but I, like many others, am visiting with family over the holidays. I hope you have the courage to do the right thing, and end discrimination in healthcare policy.

Kindest regards,
Bill Jetzer
