Subject: Something worrying me

Dear Dawn,

Not knowing who to contact or send this to, can you tell me or forward this letter to the right person, please?

The letter is a documentation on the research that I have done and what I have learned over the last 10 years.

It is on transgender people and why they are a biological fact rather than a mental error or choice.

To over simplify, they have just identified a gene that they believe is responsible for schizophrenia developing in the womb. They have identified genes responsible for ALS, ADHD, Autism, and hundreds of other formerly thought of and classified human conditions as mental disorders.

What I have learned is that being transgender leans heavily towards being a genetic/biological occurrence as the fetus develops in the womb. Science now has proven the existence of many forms of humans and yes some with mis-matched sex organs with brain gender types.

Someone should be told as to stop any mistakes that transgender persons are doing it by choice.

We have come so far in medicine and science that there is proof a person can have a female brain and male genitalia and vice-versa a male brain and female genitalia.

I hope they check it out with the National Library or the National Institute of Health - Human Genome Research Institute.

If there are questions they can contact me and I will find the answers for them if I don't already have them.

We are not still at the stage of believing the world is flat and the universe revolves around the earth. Science is capable of showing us the human condition.

Respectfully,
Jim
